

AMONG THE BIG TREES

MR. AND MRS. FARRELL SPEND DELIGHTFUL TEN DAYS IN SEQUOIA PARK

Whether it was the alluring tales told by others of Glendale who have visited the Sequoia National Park earlier this season, whether it was an ambition to see Nature in a larger sense, literally, or whether it was just a desire to see something different from the well-made roads and well-kept rose hedges and lawns of Los Angeles and adjacent counties, no matter what it was, the fact remains that Mr. and Mrs. James A. Farrell, 123 East Broadway, were prompted to leave their charming home at 4:30 a. m. Saturday, September 1, with their auto loaded with camp equipment for a ten days' outing among the big trees of the Sequoia National Park.

Lunching Saturday noon at Bakersfield, Mrs. Farrell was heard to make comparison of Glendale's delightful climate with the Bakersfield brand, much to the disparagement of the latter.

Porterville was reached that night and camp was made near the home of a hospitable rancher, to whom they were sent by the friendly garage man. Going on next morning, they at last reached a place about thirty miles from the park, where they "check in," as they term it, for the park, but Mr. Farrell calls it "check out" to the tune of $2.50, for that is what it cost them.

Here they were relieved of their guns but were allowed to keep their cameras. They took a number of very interesting pictures which will prove delightful souvenirs of a delightful trip.

Reaching Wolverton a permanent camp was made and Mr. and Mrs. Farrell gave themselves up to the wonders of the park. So impressed were they by the magnificence and grandeur of the awe-inspiring scene that they feel as though the little poem by Olive Simpson which they found framed on that forest giant, "The General Sherman Tree," which Mr. Farrell copied at the risk of dislocating his neck, expressed their feelings better than any words of their own.

General Sherman Tree
Long before the ancient Romans
Had built their towering walls,
Long before the books of knowledge
Were placed in Grecian halls,

Long before the tower of Babel,
Torn by the wrath of God away,
This old tree stood unknown to man
Where the wild beasts sought their prey.

Five thousand years or more
It grew, a massive, towering tree.
If it could speak perhaps
'Twould tell the Sphinx' whole mystery.

When beneath its boughs you are
Roaming
All the sacred things seem near;
The balmy breeze plays through its leaves
And whispers, "God is here."
—Olive Simpson.

Several incidents of camp life were very interesting and amusing. A big buck came into the camp one night and smelled all around and broke some dishes. He repeated his visit several times during their stay.

On the way up a doe sprang out in front of the auto and Mr. Farrell was obliged to come to a very sudden stop.

A little chipmunk, the bold little robber, was captured on the camp table and its captors decided to bring it to Glendale as a pet. On their arrival at Porterville on the return trip, behold instead of one chipmunk there were five in the auto. But the heat proved too much for them and only the little mother survived and now occupies a comfortable home on East Broadway.

The fishing at Three Rivers proved excellent, large catches being made and the trout, some of them, fourteen inches long. Trout was always on the menu at the Farrell camp.

At the bridge across Marble Creek a number of cabins had been used by the construction gang, and in answer to Mrs. Farrell's query as to the purpose of those thick planks at the windows, was told that it was necessary to board up everything to keep out the bears, who would break in if they possibly could and destroy provisions and stores of all kinds.

The altitude at Wolverton is 8000 feet. The climbing is largely done in the last forty miles and the grades are very steep. If you ask Mrs. Farrell if she cares to repeat the trip she says "hush."

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to night and Friday. Westerly winds.

FIRST AID CLASS

COMPLETES THE WORK AND IS GIVEN EXAMINATION TUESDAY EVENING

The High School was teeming with life upon the entrance of 500 pupils to begin the work of the year on Tuesday. It was also teeming with life on Tuesday night when the First Aid class under the Red Cross were taking their final examination and closing their work.

This class was organized in the summer by Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, chairman of nurses' training classes for Glendale Chapter of Red Cross. Dr. R. E. Chase gave his services as instructor and has proven himself both efficient and faithful, giving unstintingly of his time and knowledge. The course consists of much practical knowledge in what to do in cases of accident and is information no mature person can afford to be without. The examination was given by Dr. A. L. Bryant, who likewise gave his services. Thus these generous physicians have been able to render much valuable service to the community. The object of the Government in giving these courses at this time is to make its citizens more independent and to give them a better knowledge of how to conserve health and strength.

The Red Cross is not merely an organization in time of war, but in peace it stands as a beacon light in time of disaster and it is such times that this knowledge becomes most valuable.

The names of those successfully passing the examination will be given later.

Dr. Chase will instruct one more such class and any one desiring to register should do so now with Mrs. Hutchinson.

A class in home nursing is being formed at this time. This is the course the Government gives that will prepare one to become a nurse's aid if he so desires, but its real object is to teach women personal and household hygiene in order that they may acquire those habits of right living that will aid in prevention of sickness and the upbuilding of a strong and vigorous people. Other nations of this world have made such courses compulsory, realizing how important the knowledge is to the mothers of the nation.

The instructor will be a Red Cross nurse and the fee is set by the Bureau at Washington, but will depend upon the size of the class. Enroll now and start life aright.

BRITISH AMBULANCE SOCIETY

Next Monday the second of the afternoon teas will be given in Ye Ginger Tavern at four o'clock. This has been twice postponed owing to the two legal holidays. Mrs. Hugh Blue was to have been the hostess, but as she is unexpectedly leaving Glendale to live in San Francisco, where Mr. Blue has accepted a position, she will be unable to serve. Mrs. Gerald Blue is taking her place for next Monday and it is hoped there will be a good attendance. Only 15 cents is charged for a dainty tea and a very pleasant time. Come and bring your friends. The monthly business meeting of the Society will take place on Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the headquarters, and the work room will be open at 11 a. m. as usual.

GUARANTEES GASOLINE AT 6 CENTS A GALLON

Louis Bond Cherry, a Kansas City inventor, called on Secretary of the Navy Daniels last week, announced his ability to increase the gasoline production of the United States from 3,000,000,000 to 9,000,000,000 gallons a year, and offered to furnish "gas" to the government at 6c a gallon. Cherry submitted samples and the report of a committee of scientists who have examined his process and given it their approval.

"But for the shortage of materials, electrical apparatus and the like," he said, "I could have my apparatus installed in every refinery in the country, trebling the gasoline production, inside of a year."

RETURN FROM LAGUNA

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burns, 16 Piedmont Park, accompanied by their two sons, Robert and Lawrence, Miss Mary Austin of Glendale and Miss Gertrude Hibbard of Los Angeles, have returned from a very pleasant outing spent at Laguna Beach.

The quiet restfulness of this beach with its rugged scenery and freedom from the usual beach amusements, appeals to many and is a favorite with Glendale people.

KORNILOFF WILL SURRENDER

KERENSKY IN STATEMENT TO UNITED PRESS SAYS REBEL GENERAL'S MUTINY HAS FAILED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PETROGRAD, September 13.—General Korniloff is preparing to surrender, Premier Kerensky declared in a special statement to the United Press to-day. "The mutiny has failed completely," he declared. Kerensky has remained master of the situation in the face of tremendous odds. While Korniloff's troops were stationed only a score of miles from Petrograd seemingly waiting for the opportune moment, there was a wavering in their loyalty to the general. Premier Kerensky says he will fight the revolt to the end and that the slightest disobedience to authority will be punished.

NEWS OF ORGANIZATION FORMING IN GERMANY TO SUPPORT PEACE TALK DISTURBS POPE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ROME, September 13.—"War to the hilt," is the slogan of a party forming in Germany, where von Tirpitz' advocates of frightfulness are combining with leaders in Mecklenberg for a stern repression of all peace talk, according to word received at the Vatican to-day. The Pope is disturbed by this new obstacle in his campaign for peace.

FLOUR SHORTAGE THREATENS

REFUSAL OF FARMERS TO SELL WHEAT AT GOVERNMENT-FIXED PRICES CAUSE OF SERIOUS SITUATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
CHICAGO, September 13.—This country is confronted with the most serious flour shortage in years in the opinion of millers, jobbers and retailers. The retailers have comparatively small stocks on hand while the millers, wholesalers and others are unable to deliver their orders on account of the wheat shortage. The refusal of the farmers to sell wheat at government-fixed prices is blamed for the shortage.

LIGHT RECEIPTS OF WHEAT COMPEL LARGE MILLING COMPANIES TO SHUT DOWN MILLS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
MINNESOTA, September 13.—Light receipts of wheat caused the Washburn-Crosby company to shut down their flour mills to-day. Other large milling companies are expecting to be compelled to follow suit to-morrow. Paralysis of the milling industry is threatened while orders for flour continue to pile up. The country faces a bread famine.

RED CROSS NOTES

Washington, September 13.

The following cable from Major Grayson M.-P. Murphy, head of the Red Cross Commission to France, has been received by the Red Cross War Council:

"The Bureau of Reconstruction of Civil Affairs of the American Red Cross in France has a new motto: 'Housing follows the Plow.'"

"In view of the overshadowing importance of augmenting in every possible way the food supply, the Red Cross will carry on its first work of reconstruction in those portions of the devastated areas which are selected by the Government as the best wheat growing regions, and to which the French Government sends its batteries of tractors for plowing by wholesale. Representatives of three divisions of the American Red Cross in France—Planning, Engineering, and Civil Affairs—returned recently from a study of conditions in the devastated areas, having selected three villages in which provisional reconstruction work will be begun within a fortnight.

"Fifty villages were visited. In some, the destruction of buildings was complete. In others, a portion of the buildings can be repaired. Nearly all the houses are without roofs, without windows and door frames, and with absolutely no furniture or utensils.

"The Red Cross plans to do provisional reconstruction of dwellings in several of these villages, and also, as the refugees return to the villages, to assist in their economic and social rehabilitation. In the light of experience gained in these villages, it

HAPPENINGS IN STATE

PLANS TO ELIMINATE SPECULATOR AND MIDDLEMAN IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 14.—It's going to be hard sledding for speculators and unnecessary middlemen in California. Ralph P. Merritt, California representative of Food Administrator Herbert Hoover, has announced his plans to eliminate them. Only those middlemen necessary to the state's system of distribution will be allowed to remain. Two basic principles, according to Merritt, will be followed by the California food administration. First, the producer must secure a price which will encourage him to continue production. Secondly, customers will be protected by allowing necessary middlemen to continue business on a basis of a reasonable profit and speculators and unnecessary middlemen—well, they will be looking for work.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 14.—Governor Stephens has appointed Ralph P. Merritt, California food administrator, as a member of the state council of defense, succeeding Col. Frank W. Coe, formerly of the western army department, who has been transferred to another command.

EUREKA, Cal., Sept. 14.—Increased wages, decreased charge for board, and better food—that is what Uncle Sam had ordered for his employees engaged in building the million dollar jetties at the entrance of Humboldt Bay. It was voluntary, without demands being made by the men. Under the government order wages are increased from five to ten per cent.—the men now getting the least pay being given the largest increase. It covers all employees excepting the engineer in charge. Board at the government cook house formerly cost 75 cents a day. But the government has ordered that old H. C. L. be defied and the charge has been reduced to 66 cents. At the same time the commissary was directed to cease charging cookhouse help against the food bill and to charge it against the plant department and use the money saved from the commissary appropriation to buy better food.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Major Michael Shanahan of the Second Australian Light Horse Cavalry, has come all the way from Sydney, Australia, to San Francisco in search of an artificial leg. Major Shanahan served at Gallipoli until the ill-fated expedition came to a close. Then he was ordered to Egypt and in service there lost his leg. Going to England he was fitted with a new leg but it wasn't to his liking. But when (Continued on Page 4)

ENTERTAIN MISS SAXE

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell are congratulating themselves that such a busy woman as Miss Grace Saxe of the Billy Sunday party consented to spend a social hour with them on Wednesday evening, prior to the meeting at the First Methodist church, at which Miss Saxe was the speaker. At an informal dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell at their pleasant foothill home on Wednesday evening the guests were Miss Grace Saxe, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, Miss Elizabeth Edmonds, Mr. Arthur Campbell and daughters. Miss Saxe is a woman of very pleasing personality and has been a member of the Sunday party for four years.

CANADIANS HOLD SOCIAL EVENING

The Canadian Society of Southern California will hold their monthly social evening next Tuesday evening, September 18, at the Gamut club, 1040 South Hope street, Los Angeles. Musical program, dancing, cards and refreshments. Come and meet old acquaintances. Every Canadian is welcome.

plans to undertake provisional reconstruction on a larger scale. In these particular villages, the total population before the war was 3,387. Now it is 235.

"The villages first selected are those in the best wheat growing area, and the Government will plow the land with tractors. The repair of the houses will permit the return of the refugees who can do much toward getting the land sown to wheat this autumn. In order to encroach as little as possible on the limited supply of lumber, the Red Cross is selecting villages in which the work will be largely that of provisional repair rather than of new construction. It plans to make on the spot its own brick and lime."

COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

DR. RUSSELL RETURNS FROM MEETING OF STATE ORGANIZATION

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president of California Congress of Mothers, has just returned from Sacramento, where she has been attending the state meeting of the Council of Defense, which was held in the Senate hall at the capitol.

On Tuesday Dr. Russell was the luncheon guest of Gov. and Mrs. W. D. Stephens. The same afternoon she was entertained by the State Fair officials. For the first time the Congress of Mothers had headquarters at the State Fair, a recognition most gratifying as well as deserved by this noble organization, and one evidently appreciated by the public, as nineteen of the leading educators of the state were callers at the headquarters. Dr. Russell also held, by appointment, an important conference with the new State Librarian, M. B. Ferguson.

On her return Tuesday, Dr. Russell attended a conference of the presidents of the First District Congress of Mothers and in the afternoon held a meeting of her executive board.

The state president is giving a great deal of time and energy to this important work, but it is her great desire to place this organization where it belongs, as one of the greatest recognized forces for good.

REPORT OF AMBULANCE PILLOW AND RED CROSS ROSIE SECTION

It looks as if Glendale were going to receive an honor from the National Red Cross for which she will be indebted to her loyal little citizens who gave up their playtime this summer to work for the Red Cross, their loyal and unselfish mothers, big brothers and sisters, and to Mr. John Todd, whose service in selling our newspapers for us at the wholesale house direct has amounted to a donation of $2 in the last four weeks.

The plan of showing these children the appreciation of the Nation for their devotion by means of pins put out by the National Red Cross, which may be worn only by those who have earned that right by a certain number of hours' service outside of school time, was put before Mr. Wm. W. Hush, field representative of the Pacific Division of the Red Cross. He was very pleased and said that the idea was quite new, and that he considered it an excellent one; that he would push it and felt so sure of its adoption that we might report that he backed us. Furthermore, Glendale will get the credit for a method of procedure that will become national if we make a sufficient showing.

If every city would handle the old papers as we have done, insuring the Red Cross a regular and dependable weekly income, it would save the sufferers from this war at home and abroad incalculable misery; for to the Red Cross has been turned over all war relief work, including the care of the dependents of men who have answered the call to the colors.

Any child will be credited with an hour's work toward his pin who brings a signature and address of any housewife not already on our books to the following pledge:

"I promise to donate my old newspapers to the Glendale Red Cross until further notice."

Friday, September 7th, newspapers and magazines were gathered stacked and tied at headquarters. We gathered more than ever before at a single collection, yet we handled them with greater ease and dispatch because of the best facilities for handling and the largest corps of enthusiastic helpers that we have ever had. Next Friday we will collect from the rest of the town.

The Red Cross Rosie workers were Mrs. Van Dyke, Mrs. Rochester, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Frazee, Mrs. Chappell, Mrs. Noland, Mrs. Bullard, Ruth Bullard, Isabel Franklin.

Seven of the little "Rosies" were sold by Mrs. A. S. Chase at the benefit given at her home Friday evening and $1.75 turned into the Red Cross from them.

There will be no more wool used in their construction as there is a great scarcity of that commodity and a rapid destruction of that used. Hereafter we will use only cotton, which is harder to handle but the only right thing.

I have a long list of new contributors which will be published soon.

AN ACCOUNTING JUMBLE

A state law requires municipal and county officials to supply to the Controller each year for his statistical report, information concerning receipts and disbursements; but it is claimed that owing to the existence of a modern and uniform system of accounting it is difficult to draw exact or dependable statistical conclusions from the statements submitted. Discussing this matter the 'Taxpayers' Journal says:

"In order to be valuable these data must be originally comparable or they must be made so in the controller's office. That they are strictly comparable is not claimed by anyone who knows the facts with reference to municipal and county accounting systems and methods. But few of the municipalities keep their accounts in modern fashion, and it is safe to say that no half-dozen in the state keep them in accordance with systems based upon the same fundamental principles. Many of them keep accounts which can be dignified as such only by the uninformed or by the antiquarian who is making comparisons of systems of bygone years. From some municipalities it is literally impossible to secure two statements covering one year's financial operations which will agree. This condition of chaos being fundamental, it cannot be remedied in the office of the state controller unless agents are sent out to gather and classify the data in each municipality. This cannot be done under existing conditions because the controller has neither the money nor the assistance that is required."

In view of this situation the Journal concludes that there is "crying need for betterment in the matter of municipal accounting, and for close supervision and direction by the state in that field."

HEART OF THE YOUNG SOLDIER

Men of medical science are finding much of deep interest in the experience of the present war. Surgeons have accomplished real triumphs and look ahead to others. One of the most notable advances has been in the combat of infection. Out of the newer methods of destruction came infection of a sort science knew not how to deal with when the war was young; ordinary antiseptics were of little or no use and discovery was demanded. This has been met, until now absolute cleanliness and consequent recovery is available. But some of the lessons of older wars are yet remembered and applied. One of these is the fact transition of young men from sedentary to active life, such as going from the counting-room to the training field, has a bad effect on the heart and not infrequently incapacitates the young soldier. This was studied at the time of the Civil war and is now getting deserved attention from the army doctors. In the British army it has been met not only with heart stimulants, but more effectively by graduated exercise, so that the recruit is worked up to his capacity through degrees that develop him without any undue strain. The great task of shaping up our new army involves no end of detail, not the least of which is this factor of physical endurance. American surgeons are hopeful, however, of being able to eliminate "soldier's heart" from the list of diseases to be faced.—Omaha Bee.

CALIFORNIA GOES TO FIRST PLACE

California led all cotton producing states in average yield per acre and average price per pound received by growers for short staple cotton.

The 1916 California cotton crop is reported by the bureau of census as 43,664 bales.

Of this number, 39,028 bales were produced in Imperial county and 4636 in Riverside county. In Imperial valley, besides the 39,028 bales ginned on the American side, 24,141 bales were ginned on the Mexican side, making a total valley production of 63,175 bales.

With the 4636 bales in Riverside county, the California and Baja California total is 67,811 bales. Up to 1916 the Mexican cotton was ginned on the American side and the production was included in the California statistics by the census bureau.

The record of the production prior to 1916 as prepared by the census bureau is as follows: 1909, 183 bales; 1910, 5986 bales; 1911, 9790 bales; 1912, 8215 bales; 1913, 22,838 bales; 1914, 49,835 bales; 1915, 28,551 bales.

The 1916 California production of 43,664 bales moved the state from thirteenth to twelfth place in cotton producing rank.

California was the only state, however, whose growers averaged 20 cents per pound. The acre return in California was $80, one-third more than the average of the next ranking cotton state.

RED CROSS EVERYWHERE

Wherever war spreads desolation and wherever the hand of disaster falls heavily, there may be found the banner of the Red Cross—red with the warm heartblood impulses of noble service. The American Red Cross is destined to do splendid service in this war, for the amelioration of suffering among American troops abroad, and in the military camps while the new army is being trained in-

"To instill a spirit of brotherly love instead of savage militarism into the hearts of the Germans will be a very hard job," said a Sacramento fruit-grower just back from Germany. "The militaristic Germans will misunderstand the preachers of brotherly love as Wash White misunderstood the missionary. A missionary was sent South to a very godless region of chicken thieves and boozers, and, finding that there was no church, he got permission to use an old hen-house. He said to an old colored man who was always loafing round the hotel: 'Washington, you go down bright and early tomorrow morning and clean out that old henhouse back of Sinnickson's barn. The old man frowned. 'But sho'ly, pawson, sho'ly,' he said, 'yo' don' clean out a henhouse in de daytime!'"—The Argonaut.

tensively. There never is any default by the Red Cross in the performance of works of mercy. Its work has been singularly free from selfishness and scandal and extraordinarily effective. In truth, the two watchwords of this magnificent organization fittingly might be—Honesty and Efficiency.

The glowing record of the Red Cross has never been tainted with dishonor or inefficiency. Some mistakes may have been made—doubtless have been made. But none has been so grave as to seriously impair the work in general. And any errors of judgment or mistakes of action have been corrected promptly. The Red Cross work as a rule, however, has been conspicuously free from blunders.

There is no nobler page in universal history than that written by the Red Cross in its worldwide ministrations of mercy. It has relieved distress in all lands that have been smitten with disaster. It has performed its generously good mission in China and the far ends of the earth with the same zeal as in America. In truth, there is no organized effort of a secular character that more nearly embodies the ideal of universal brotherhood than does the Red Cross in its humane work wherever catastrophe calls for aid.

MUST FACE NEW CONDITIONS

One of Los Angeles' largest retail grocers, one who has done his share of the price cutting in these parts, discussed with The Bulletin this week the new conditions which war has brought about. He flatly asserted that a readjustment would have to come about, or even the best managed stores would fail. Here in part is what he said: "It wasn't very long ago that men were begging for jobs. It was possible to get an efficient clerk or deliveryman at ten or twelve dollars a week, and many a small grocer paid less than that. Today it is almost impossible to get men at any price within reason. Big stores are bidding among themselves, and for example, deliverymen who are any good at all can get their $20 to $24 a week. Nor can you blame them, for it is impossible to live for less. Twine, paper, etc. cost double what they did in peace times, and everything but rents have soared in about the same proportion.

"Now, the government has set out to put a stop to speculation, and it is succeeding with marvelous rapidity. There is no use denying that in the last two years if it had not been for the speculative profit, many a grocers' business would have operated on the red side of the ledger. Even in normal times the successful grocer in the past has figured to piece out his selling profit through wise speculations. So this action by the government, while entirely right, is going to cut in and cut in seriously.

"Summed up, the retail grocer, big or little, is up against one of two things: he must either get a better profit than heretofore, or get out of business. I don't care how close a man buys or how efficient his management, he cannot make a profit on the present downtown cash prices; that is he can't do it when his early bought, low priced goods are cleaned up—and they are being cleaned up mighty fast."

There is plenty of room for mature thought here. Every other line of endeavor is adjusting to war conditions, and it will be suicide for the retail grocery trade to close its eyes to the obvious facts—Commercial Bulletin.

GO TO COLLEGE.

Iowa's colleges, facing next year with the certainty of losses in their upper classes through enlistments and the operation of the draft law, are also confronted with a peculiar situation in consequence of an idle notion which has become current.

Young men are said to have been imbued with the idea that going to college stamps them with the lack of patriotism.

Not only has President Wilson urged that young men stay in college in order to fit themselves for professional work, or to become officers in the event of a long war, but Secretary Baker several months ago warned college students to go slow about enlisting, saying that they were needed for more valuable service in the ranks.

One of the mistakes made by Great Britain and repeated by Canada was in stripping her universities of young men, and public men of those countries have urgently advised the United States not to follow suit.

Everybody is proud of the patriotic spirit which makes young men willing to sacrifice a university course, but education is a duty as well as a privilege, and those who go to college for real work will thereby be doing their duty by the United States, in preparing to render the best future service of which they are capable.—Des Moines Register.

Mr. Brown and party returned by the Bouquet Canyon road, past Elizabeth Lake. This makes a fine day's drive and is very popular with motorists.

Lieut. Reginald G. Whitaker, formerly of Glendale, has left the training camp at Vancouver, Wash., and has gone with his company, 117th Engineers' Reserve, to Camp Albert Mills, New York. Mrs. Reginald Whitaker is visiting relatives in Glendale and with Mrs. J. W. Whitaker and Miss Ina Whitaker, 208 West Ninth street, is spending a few days at Ocean Park. Miss Whitaker writes that it is lovely and cool after the warm weather we have been experiencing. Mrs. Reginald Whitaker and Miss Ina will be up for the meeting and tea of the British Ambulance Society next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Richardson and daughter, Miss Marion Richardson, have returned from a delightful ten days' stay at Hermosa Beach. The fishing and surf bathing proved very attractive to Mr. Richardson and daughter, while Mrs. Richardson rested and knitted for the Red Cross. The Glendale contingent was largely in evidence as so many Glendale people are taking their outings at this popular beach. Mrs. Richardson was impressed by the friendliness of the people who spend their vacations here—a spirit of sociability seems to prevail. During their stay the brilliancy of the phosphorence on the water at night made it seem as though lighted by a thousand electric lamps.

BUY TIRES BY NAME

MOTORISTS LEARNING PRICE IS NOT ONLY THING TO BE CONSIDERED

According to Mr. W. M. Platt, of Platt's Tire Store, the local distributors for Savage Tires and Grafite Tubes, motorists are rapidly finding out the advantage of insisting on supplies of all sorts with established reputations. This is especially true in buying tires. In other words, most tires are bought nowadays; formerly they were sold.

Only a year or two ago it was next to impossible to find an automobile that had tires of the same kind on all four wheels, excepting, of course, the new cars on which the factory equipment was still in use. Formerly a big percentage of buyers simply asked for a tire when they needed one. Now they insist on getting some special brand of tire, and the number of four-wheelers, cars equipped with the same tires all around, are fairly numerous.

This is a good sign; it shows that motorists are learning to appreciate quality. When a tire of a certain make gives them service, they want one of the same kind when they buy again. Advertising, of course, helps, but the service that tires give and what one motorist tells another about this service counts more than anything else.

Mr. Platt went on to say that a big percentage of his customers now ask for Savage Tires or Savage Tubes, and that aside from factory equipment, Savages were easily the leading four-wheeler in his territory. If this be true, it surely proves all of the good things that have been claimed for Savage products.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY READY ROOFING

For nearly thirty years the architects and contractors of California and adjoining states have regarded the well-known Pioneer Roofing as being the best prepared roofing on the market. Its makers have built up an enormous trade and now ship roofing materials to a number of foreign countries as well as doing a very large and growing domestic business.

Now comes the Pioneer Paper Co., in spite of the fact that materials of nearly all kinds have been advancing by leaps and bounds, and announces a new brand of Pioneer roofing (to be known as Pioneer LEADER Roofing) which will retail at $2 a roll. The company emphasizes the fact that this roofing will be of the same high grade that has distinguished their products for nearly a third of a century. Furthermore, Pioneer Leader Roofing has a smooth finish on one side and a fine silver grit on the other—either side being applicable for use according to the individual taste of the purchaser.

In view of prevailing conditions, a guaranteed roofing to sell at $2 a roll (100 square feet) is indeed a remarkable value and dealers everywhere are reported to be stocking up heavily. If your dealer cannot supply you, the Pioneer Paper Co., Los Angeles, will send you samples on request and send you the name of their nearest dealer.

BEANSTALK JACK, THE GIANT KILLER

By W. LeN. C.

The Palace Grand was grander than ever yesterday and its glory continues to-day. Beanstalk Jack, a real giant, and his wonderful hen, laying golden eggs faster than one can count, almost. But she wouldn't get busy unless Jack spoke exactly the right words, the same as she had been taught by her first master, the Giant. No good at all to order "Hatch it!" Nothing doing to command, "Drop it!" But just say "Lay it!" and there you are, a golden egg, really worth its weight in gold. Why, as a wealth producer that hen beats an army contract. Besides, she works overtime without extra pay. She was not caught once watching the clock and never even hinted at any rebate or divvy. Oh, her henship is a fortune getter. But she wouldn't have had anything on the beanstalk if the price of beans then was what it is to-day.

Now suppose "Sport" was your very own dog. Would you sell him for that hen? But lucky Jack owned Sport and the hen too, of course. So why bother with foolish questions? And the beautiful princess, so sweet and winsome. No wonder Mrs. Giant was willing to risk her own life to save the little dear from being devoured like a ripe peach by the greedy, wicked old Mr. Giant, with his horrible growl of "Fe, fa, fi, fo, fum!"

But he got his all right, all right. How? Just by reason of the—but of course you will see it yourself, this afternoon or to-night.

Say, as a smasher and unroofer of houses, that big boob giant has a cyclone beat to a whisper. What?

Not the least enjoyable part of the very unusual and most artistic entertainment is the wild bursts of delight from hundreds of fascinated children, who are the best natural judges of the real thing on the screen.

There will be a Red Cross benefit held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peckham, 245 North Central avenue, Thursday evening, September 20. Details of the affair will be published later. Any one who is willing to donate a cake please call Glendale 98-J.

PARKERETTES

By Samuel Parker

The Kingship of Corn seems likely to come into its own once more. Should the corn belt of the United States be Hooverized to the extent of one or two days per week, the difference can hardly be estimated. That Hoover could enforce this as a war measure, none will dispute. That he merely desires to use persuasion is a good example in these military times. But should Hoover order the use of corn bread generally, instead of the superfine powdery substance branded flour, it might prove to be a blessing rather than a calamity. It cannot be denied that the corn foods so generally in use one hundred years ago put a stamina, strength and vigor into the men and women of that period unknown to their brothers and sisters of to-day, consumers of the fine bread, out of which the steel rollers had squeezed every particle of stamina, the ultimate residue being a dust as dangerous as dynamite, often resulting in the wreckage of the monster plants. The Corn Kingship of 100 years ago put two million soldiers in the field, fed and fought them through four years of war, but the greatest conquest of King Corn came in the conquest of the Western Wilderness to the uses of mankind. Up to 1840 corn had the right of way. Wheat was grown in small quantities and harvested by hand. The first reaping machine appeared in 1844. That made the vast wheat fields and the great flour mills a possibility. Corn is a safe crop, easily handled and profitable. Corn is yet King.

Sour Mash Be Gone

We can hardly comprehend how fast some good things come about along the awful calamity of worldwide war. That, as a war necessity, the sale of grains for distillation purposes stopped in a night and grains to the value of (in round numbers) one thousand millions of dollars was switched from the sour mash (liquors) to the bread column, this to stay during the war. Do you think sour mash will ever get on the throne again? I don't.

That sunflower seed head 18 inches in diameter that attracted so much attention in the window of the Chamber of Commerce would be at home anywhere in Kansas, but is a product of Glendale. Why are they not more generally grown? Two reasons exist for planting them: The rank growing plant carries off a vast amount of rank odors, purifying the atmosphere. It is interesting to watch those heavy seed heads pay respect to a law of their being. With great loyalty they catch and follow the movement of the sun all the day long, almost wringing their necks in doing so. In a not over large lot, my modest home in Illinois, I always reserved a goodly plot for the sunflowers and the beautiful wild canaries that came in flocks when the seeds were ripening.

SAWTELLE, Sept. 10.—Dr. Jacob C. Schoonover, Civil war veteran and retired physician, is receiving congratulations to-day on the energetic manner in which he celebrated his 94th birthday. Dr. Schoonover entertained visitors at his home on North Fourth street by playing war tunes on his life and dancing to them.

A record of advanced age coupled with well-preserved physical ability, a common result of living in the Southland. A more pronounced case was that of Rev. Higgins of Pasadena, recently deceased. Twice during this current year I met him. Tall, erect, voice fairly good for speech, song, prayer. He was within a few days of the birthday that was to turn him into his second century of life, but the Angel at the switch threw it on the limited for Glory Land. Clear track, no stops, there.

And now King Gustav of Sweden lifts his voice in the world-war mix-up. Can any Swede anywhere in the wide world arise and tell what possible use Sweden has for a king, except to consume the earnings of labor of others? Oh, ye uncrowned Sweden-American citizen kings! Ye conquerors of the virgin soil of Minnesota and the Dakotas, isn't it about time to discard from speech, print and thought all reference to the possible existence of any kind of ruler except the one selected by the voice of the voter?

Community singing got a good send-off last Saturday evening, first in the able address of City Manager Watson, a strong argument for the agency of song in community betterment. The next uplift came in the well presentment of the excellent program. The patriotic address was a poem of short speech, inspiring, thrilling. But the spirit of the meeting was most freely caught by the children, who sang with a freedom and abandon worthy of imitation by their more aged but more timid parents and friends.

THEIR VIEW OF IT

He—So you refuse to be married on Friday. Are you superstitious?
She—No, but a lot of my girl friends are, and they would say I only consented to a Friday wedding because it was my last chance.—Exchange.

Dr. S. Parrett, 611 West Broadway, is visiting his son at Anaheim. Mrs. Parrett is spending the week with another son in Los Angeles, who is on police duty at the Sunday tabernacle.

GLENDAL E W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday, September 21st, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, 101 South Orange street. The program for the afternoon will be an open parliament on several important subjects, the first one being "Are Billy Sunday's talks helpful or harmful to the cause of Prohibition?"

These meetings are always well planned and are very instructive and interesting. The meeting of September 7th, at the home of Mrs. O. S. Palmer, 116 West Colorado street, was unusually good, for the many members and friends present had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Dr. Wood Comstock of Pasadena, formerly of Glendale. She spoke on "Food Conservation" and in a very pleasing manner brought to her hearers many facts in such a way as to show the necessity of caring for the little things, the usual waste. "One slice of bread a day, per family, saved would mean the product of 400,000 acres of wheat; one pound of wheat flour a week saved would mean 150,000,000 more for the Allies; one ounce of meat each day per person saved would mean 2,200,000 cattle; one ounce of sugar per person each day saved means 1,100,000 pounds. We use three times as much sugar per person as the English. It has been stated that the garbage has been reduced one-half in the past few weeks in some of the large cities. The American people as a class eat too much."

Mrs. Comstock will receive a hearty welcome by the Glendale W. C. T. U. if she can come again. She is the Superintendent of Scientific Temperance in this organization.

RESOLUTIONS

Again the members of N. P. Banks Post mourn the loss of a beloved comrade in the death of R. J. Thompson, who was a devoted and honored member of this Post, having served one year as junior vice-commander. Comrade Thompson was a member of the 172 Ohio N. G., serving his country loyally and devotedly till the close of the war, when he enrolled under the banner of the Cross, preaching the unsearchable riches of salvation through Jesus Christ until his health failed. Comrade Thompson was a true and devoted husband and father and a loyal comrade.

Resolved, that we tender to the widow and members of our comrade's family our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of bereavement.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Post and that the adjutant be instructed to mail a copy to the bereaved family of our comrade, and that copy be given to the Glendale News.

This Selz Shoe has the quality in them to give the service you have a right to expect.

Don't Be Deceived

Shoes are like persons—what they look like is not always what they are, —and it often takes close companionship to find them out.

When the wise man buys shoes he looks at value instead of cost. He wears better shoes, wears them longer they look better, feel better and in the end cost less.

The shrewd bond buyer pays no attention to the gold on the paper, but looks at the gold back of the paper.

Glitter and glamour make no impression upon him.

Remember this: Many crooks have been captured in full dress suits.

About the first thing a man does when he wants to unload his worn-out auto is to have it painted and polished.

Don't buy all finish, buy shoes and service—SELZ.

LA CANADA

The ladies of the Congregational church are making plans for a most unique "Open Air Poverty Social," to be held on the church lawn Friday, September 21st. One of the features most vital to the success of the venture will be the co-operation of all in the valley. It is for all. Come dressed in poverty togs and help to make it an enjoyable evening. A feast of reason, mirth, and hot wieners sandwiches will be your reward. Remember the evening, September 21st.

The Improvement club will hold its regular monthly meeting Saturday evening, September the fourteenth. The meeting Saturday evening will be given under the head of "Red Cross Work." The committee has gone to a great deal of work and has prepared the following excellent program:

"Red Cross Demonstrations in First Aid."

"Two Tableaux," representing our stand for Liberty.

Piano solo, by Lillian Carsons of Pasadena.

Vocal solo by Miss Lulu Lanterman.

Everyone is especially urged to come as this meeting promises to be a rare treat. Refreshments will be served, the proceeds going to the Red Cross.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross was held Tuesday afternoon, September 11th. A large number of ladies were present. Mrs. Penfield, chairman of the knitting department, has been able to secure yarn and needles for those wishing to knit. It will be possible to obtain the yarn Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting or by going to the home of Mrs. Penfield. We hope that those who are obliged to miss the regular meetings will take advantage of this opportunity and knit at home. Remember to do your bit.

The young knitters of the valley known as the "Busy Fingers," held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon. Enthusiasm has been shown from the first in this little club, wash rags having been knitted by Joan Smalley and Margaret Miller between meetings. This is the youngest organized club of its kind in the state. Those present Thursday were Violet Hall, Emily Earl, Roma Penfield, Margaret Miller, Janet Metzger, Joan Smalley, Mary Leone, Catherine Maynard, Alta Lea and Pearl Slutman.

The La Canada grammar school will open September 24th.

A most pleasant surprise was given to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baker by the arrival of their two daughters, Mrs. Tom Christian and family, of Missouri, and Mrs. Laird, of Iowa. A most delightful time was spent in talking over old times and in taking many little trips of interest. It was necessary for their daughters to leave early this month, so as to be home before the school term opened.

The spirit of building has taken possession of La Canada. Four new homes are being erected on Commonwealth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Knight, with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, spent a most delightful week-end in San Diego. Many little side trips were taken by them while there, one of the most interesting being to Camp Kearny.

TUJUNGA

Mrs. Wilson and children, of El Centro, were called to Los Angeles Tuesday on account of the severe illness of Mr. Wilson.

F. M. Parcher of Hollywood is visiting his brother, Wilmot Parcher, for the week.

Mrs. Jacobs and niece, of Stephens way, have gone to Santa Ana and will weave blankets for the army. The house will be occupied by a brother of Mr. Jacobs who has just arrived from the East with his wife and child, and will enjoy the climate of Tujunga while looking around before locating.

The local Red Cross Auxiliary is still holding its Sunday evening meetings at Bolton Hall. Snipping is the order of the day. Somewhere or another, the idea has been formed that there is no need of the snipping. This is not so. It is impossible to fill the need so long as battle after battle is being fought. These are surgical pillows, used to support a wounded arm or leg, and of course as soon as soiled are discarded. So don't stop this branch of the work as long as the war continues. Again, in all work follow the directions given you implicitly. If you do not do the work as directed, some one must rip it out and do it over again. All work is carefully inspected three times, first by your local chapter, then by the Pasadena chapter, and later at Washington. All imperfect work is either discarded or returned to the chapter to be made over. So be careful. Don't make one sock different from the other; make both legs the same length; also both feet, or some one must rip out and do over. This knitting and sewing is a great benefit to many of us as it teaches us to be exact, and "anything is good enough" won't pass with the inspectors. Never was help more needed, as work must be sent by October 1st in order to meet the urgent needs.

Mr. Paul of Stephens way, who was to leave last week for Oregon, found a message in Los Angeles notifying him of the serious illness of his mother in Iowa, and changed the direction of his journey, as the message was to the effect that there was little hope of recovery.

Misses Colver, Kraft and Gilmore were in Pasadena Tuesday.

Joe Allen, with his wife and children, left for Mexico in their auto and trailer. They may be gone for some months.

Mr. Stewart, who has been under the weather for the past week, is again able to be out.

The Senior Dancing Club will hold its first session after the summer vacation, Saturday eve, September 15, at Bolton Hall. Everybody welcome.

Glorietta Heights school opened on Tuesday, September 11, with Miss Solstrum and Miss Wilson as teachers.

The Episcopal church will be finished this week and the first service held there on September 16. Much credit is due the ladies of the Guild for their earnest work, and all are glad to know that the little church is free from debt.

Mrs. Dunn has joined her husband in San Francisco and will remain there for a time.

Mrs. Shaner and Marcellena left for Los Angeles Tuesday. Mrs. Shaner will be under the surgeon's care for a time, while Marcellena will pursue her musical studies under efficient teachers.

ARBUCKLE, Cal., Sept. 14.—Arbuckle was entertaining throngs of visitors to-day who came to attend the first day of the three-day Almond Festival. The festival will close Sunday.

CAMP LEWIS, American Lake, Wash., Sept. 14.—California's drafted men will not suffer for a chance to spend their money during their training period at Camp Lewis, if those who cater to every whim to which mortal man is heir, have their way. Major-General Greene, in command, has taken up the matter of concessions and found it a big job. On his desk he found applications seeking every sort of a concession imaginable from a peanut stand to a hotel and including four theatres and two movie shows. General Greene is going through the list and in due time will grant some of the concessions—and some of them he will not grant. But it's not all peanuts and popcorn for officers and men at the camp. Artillery stores are on the way and warehouses and temporary arsenals must be prepared for them. Col. Herman Shull has been ordered from the Benicia, California, arsenal, to organize the ordnance department. Then there is drill and lectures for officers and men. A training school for 200 lieutenants in the quartermaster's department has been opened with Lieut. Col. R. McNally in charge. Machine gun officers have been ordered to map the country surrounding the camp to locate the outposts of an imaginary enemy. And for the men who have nothing else to do there is plenty of kitchen police. Special stress is being laid on artillery work at present and it is understood that batteries of American "75's"—twin sister to the famed French "75's"—with a multitude of lighter equipment, will be used in training the national army men here.

CAMP LEWIS, American Lake, Washington, Sept. 14.—They're going to hide Camp Lewis—where California's drafted men are training. An airman flying over the great camp a few months from now would have a hard time to find it. The system of trenches and roads, even moving things, such as supply trains and squads of soldiers, will be made all but invisible to air scouts. All this will be done through camouflage—the French art of making things which are seen what they are not. Camouflage will be taught the men in training. Those with natural ability as landscape gardeners or artists will be carefully trained in the new art. Trench systems will be reproduced on the prairies around the camp and the new army given intensive training in the sort of warfare now in vogue overseas. One of the first things the camouflage squads will do will be to disguise this entire trench system. Guns in the rear, of course, will be invisible from the air.

"You're discharged," said a magistrate to the person at the bar, against whom the charge could not be satisfactorily proved, although all the circumstances were against him. The recently accused did not move. "You can go; you are free," said the magistrate. Still the acquitted stood as if rooted to the spot. "Don't you understand?" cried the magistrate, "you are discharged. Get out!" "Well," at last spoke up the liberated, "what I want to know is whether I have to give him back his watch and chain."

INDIVIDUALITIES

Sir Eric Geddes, one of the new members of Britain's war cabinet, began life as a railway man when seventeen years of age.

Percy Grainger, the Australian pianist, whose talent has as great artistic and commercial value as that of any other big artist, is earning $36 a month by playing the oboe in a military band, where he is rated as a third-class musician.

France gives us the example of a poet and diplomatist rolled into one in the person of M. Paul Claudel, who is French minister at Rio de Janeiro. M. Claudel, besides being a poet and diplomatist, is the author of the idea—Bordeaux-Lyons-Turin-Milan-Trieste-Belgrade-Bucharest-Odessa, instead of Paris-Berlin-Warsaw-Moscow or Paris-Berlin-Konigsberg-Petrograd—in a few words, of an all-Latin route to the richest portion of Russia.

President Woodrow Wilson is to receive a pretty compliment from France. His history of the American people, which in style (says the London Observer) is somewhere between Freeman and John Richard Green, is to be translated into French. It makes five rather large volumes in the English language, and it will fill as many in French. There will be an introduction by M. Emile Boutroux, who is a historian, a philosopher, and a member of the French Academy.

Baron Eiichi Shibusawa, Japan's foremost financier and business man, now retired, is said to be showing his practical devotion to Japan's welfare by delivering a series of talks on ethics, especially on commercial morality, before the Tokyo commercial schools. He said recently: "From my business experience of fifty years I have learned that morality and economics can be harmonized. I feel it my duty to inculcate this principle in the minds of young commercial students."

Angelo Patri, the New York school principal who has become recognized as leader of an educational movement fully as important as that of Montessori, came to this country from Naples as a child of five. He went through the public schools, a solitary, sickly child, continually feeling the social gulf between the American children and the foreign born. His book, "A Schoolmaster of a Great City," has been compared to Jacob A. Riis' portrayal of the lives of the common people in "How the Other Half Lives."

THOROUGHLY ORGANIZING THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

The formation of a special Department under the American Red Cross Commission to France to direct all Red Cross activities in Belgium, is announced in a cable from Major Grayson M.-P. Murphy, head of the Commission, to H. P. Davison, Chairman of the Red Cross War Council.

Dr. Ernest P. Bicknell, formerly Director-General of Civilian Relief of the American Red Cross, and now Deputy Commissioner to Europe, is to be placed in charge of the work in Belgium. Assisting him will be the Reverend John Van Schaick, Pastor of Our Father in Washington, D. C., and also a member of the Commission.

The decision of the Commission to separate Belgian relief work from that in France was made after several audiences of Major Murphy with the King and Queen of Belgium. Headquarters for the new Department will be at Havre, now serving as the seat of the Belgian Government. Cordial approval of the plan has been voiced by Brand Whitlock, United States Minister to Belgium, in a letter to Major Murphy.

"I congratulate you and the Red Cross upon this very wise decision," wrote Minister Whitlock. "I know that it is particularly pleasing to the Belgian Government as another proof of the interest that America feels toward the Belgian cause."

"It will be a great pleasure to me to have Mr. Bicknell and Mr. Van Schaick, both of whom I know well, here at the seat of the Belgian Government, and you may be assured that I will do all in my power to help them in their work and to make their residence here as pleasant as possible."

At Havre, Dr. Bicknell and Dr. Van Schaick will keep closely in touch with the many relief interests of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, as well as with private agencies. They will administer the aid which the Red Cross will give to establish enterprises and will prepare the way for future operations in the devastated regions of Belgium.

Major Murphy has already made a journey of inspection behind the Belgian lines and planned a general program of relief which, for the present, is to include financial assistance to Belgian hospitals and other relief works, special care of between five and six thousand Belgian children in co-operation with the Rockefeller Foundation, and aid to the inhabitants of Belgian villages who recover their homes as the Germans retire.

"The work for children," Major Murphy cables, "is not only one of the finest works the Red Cross could undertake, but also one of the most effective in aiding the future of Belgium."

Reconstruction in Belgian towns will be done in co-operation with the Belgian Government. When a village is recovered, the burgomaster and his assistants and a picked group of refugees are allowed to begin the work of rehabilitation. The Red Cross will furnish them with the tools, furniture, seeds, farm animals and supplies needed to help refugees get on their feet. As fast as the work progresses the Government will return other refugees to their homes. The Red Cross will thus be furnishing in each town recovered the necessary shelter and equipment for a working nucleus about which the whole community can gradually be restored.
